

HO-554
Cotillion Building near Enniscorthy
Folly Quarter Road
Ellicott City

This frame pavilion with a rusty metal gable roof has only two sides (the gable ends), to which shed additions have been added. A stone chimney rises from the north gable end. The gable roof extends to the east to form a front porch.

The property has been sold to developers, and the building (described as "a wreck" by a neighbor) is slated for demolition. It was the former Howard County Cotillion building.
